Hepworth Annual Parish Meeting

18th April 2018 at Hepworth Pavilion

A social event for all Hepworth Parishioners. Meet your Parish Councillors and share ideas for future village projects.
Further details to follow in the February magazine

Hello!

Welcome to the second edition of the Hepworth Herald. Given that we have reached this minor milestone, it seems like a good time to thank all those who were involved over many years in making the previous village magazine, The Four Gazette, an invaluable companion for households of 4 local parishes. With just Hepworth news to fit in now, we have it easy!

Following feedback from readers, we have what we hope will be some new regular features this month including a "What's On" section (p9) and a "For Sale and Wanted" notice board (p12).

For many people, the shorter days at this time of year are a cause for reflection and celebration of the year past, and we would like to say a special "thank you" to all the people of the village who have been involved in putting on village events and giving their time and effort to help support those events. They really can't happen without you!

As ever, please get in touch with us if you have any ideas or comments about this magazine.

And finally may we wish you all the warmest of seasons greetings and a very happy New Year.

Hepworth Singing Angels

Are singing with great gusto every Monday at 19.30 in the Church.
All abilities welcome.

We are also looking for willing musicians to accompany!

Café de Paris comes to Hepworth!

Who would guess? That on Saturday 11th November, as you happened to drive, ride or walk along The Street in Hepworth, turn into Church Lane, 200 yards further and a turn to the left, it would take you to petite France!

Apart from lanterns to welcome you in the car park, there were few clues as to what would transform and transpire that evening. The first clue was apparent as the doors were opened – there, lit up splendidly, was the Eiffel Tower!

A visual French theme continued, with flags and candles in bottles and, in no time, tables laden with wine! Lots of French looking people including ‘famous’ artists, a few Rene’s thrown in (for those of you that remember ‘Allo,’ Allo,), many striped bretons and berets and some Parisian looking ladies.

Our stars of the evening were two wonderful accordion players Mark and Danny who are part of an ensemble of players called Stanton Musicians. Therefore in addition to a visual delight a superb auditory experience enhanced the whole evening. Visual and auditory senses satisfied, the gustatory senses were tickled with a wonderful variety of French food – a BIG thank you to a happy band of volunteers who cooked and delivered the delicious cuisine. A BIG thank you also to everyone who supported the event in every way – organisers, entertainers and most important of all our supporting visitors who entered into the French spirit!

A French Quiz, Treasure Hunt and Fancy Dress award rounded off the evening.

Lots of happy faces and lots of French sounding – well almost – conversations!

A HUGE
THANK YOU FOR RAISING...

£1,075

David and Carol would, once again, like to thank all their family and friends who came along to their Macmillan Coffee Morning on Friday 29th September at Highfield Farm. The weather was 'soggy' but everyone joined in and a big Thank You goes to our coffee ladies Teresa and Ann, Fay for looking after the Tombola and Bridget who sold the tickets for the cake competitions, 'Name the Teddy' and the beautiful 'basket of flowers' from Julie plus everyone who donated all the fabulous cakes and Tombola prizes.

THANK YOU

Hepworth Art News

We chose a blustery weekend for an art exhibition! Despite a few hiccups, which hopefully nobody noticed, we had an enjoyable two days. Our first 'THANK YOU' goes to all our visitors - from near and far. You make all the hard work that goes into putting on an exhibition so worthwhile. As you will have seen, we enjoy painting very much and when visitors come to see our artwork (and make such positive comments), it truly is the icing on the cake!

Second 'Thank you' is to art club members and their partners/spouses for the huge amount of hard work and support. Cakes, picture hanging, marquee erecting - multi-tasking in action! A brilliant team of people who work together and plug gaps instinctively to make it all come together. Governments would do well to come along and observe - and dare I say it - learn some lessons!! Our third 'Thank you' is to The Samaritans who stepped into the breach and lent us a gazebo when our large marquee was destroyed by overnight winds - particularly upsetting as one of our members had kindly lent it.

As 2017 draws to a close, in a painterly way, we have sailed down Canals, waterways and rivers, still life apples with the help of Fiona Meldrum. A fascinating session which began with a presentation about Cezanne focusing on his still life apples. Further treats include clouds, trees and winter landscapes. On that note, from everyone at Hepworth Art, we wish you all the joys of the festive season and a Happy and Healthy 2018.

Would you like to help?

Many of the events above are being supported by Hepworth2Enjoy. Hepworth2Enjoy is a friendly collective of villagers who come together to put on events and to help others put on village events, providing people-power, experience, and bags of enthusiasm. We are always looking for volunteers - please contact Clare on 250 660.

FA-GAI-HA-JAI

(TO MOVE AWAY WITH CONTROL)

FA-GAI-HA-JAI Martial Arts is currently training at Hepworth village hall, and we look forward to welcoming all new students. The club is currently run by Chief instructor Leroy Arnold and Mike Jones who have been teaching this system for the past 15 years in Stanton.

FA-GAI-HA-JAI is not competition based and is designed to teach students to go for their goals and instill professionalism to carry on into everyday life, with a sense of achievement and the ability to know that anything is achievable: We believe that everyone deserves a chance to prove their critics wrong....

Anyone interested should just turn up on any Wednesday night for a 6pm start and see if this system is for you - we believe in principles and concepts and basic foundations. Once these skills are learnt so will be the mindset. Leroy Arnold

THE REAL HOUSEWIVES OF HEPWORTH VILLAGE

The concept of the "Real Housewives of Hepworth" came from a rare outing for coffee with a non-farming friend of mine originating from London. It's a tongue in cheek, long-suffering farmer's wife view of life on the farm.

How is my life so different from "The Real Wives of New York?" Well, apart from the obvious differences of their immaculate clothes, manicured nails and elite social life, I too have a great family, friends, home and job.

The different lives of people I know is something I deliberate whilst doing some of my more mundane everyday chores, such as taking the Hoover apart to clear out the straw and many other sundry non-Hooverable items I have collected, or removing the straw (straw again) from the troughs in the pig sheds, trying to avoid the many inquisitive little noses and teeth whilst doing so.

However, today, my routine is different. On a Sunday afternoon in late November at about one ish, I'm languishing, yes, languishing in the bath, with a mug of tea and a cigarette; yes, once again, I have my caffeine and nicotine at hand. The bubbles may not be of the more expensive variety such as Lu-Ann, Romona or Alex would pour into their foaming water, but a bubble is a bubble, and this is pure luxury.

Outside I can just hear the faint noises of farm machinery as the straw (straw again) for the year is brought home. I wonder to myself how much of it will find its way indoors, and is there a mathematical equation to work out a straw to carpet ratio? Straw carting is not a job for me, it's "man's work," or so I'm told. Fine. My one and only attempt at using farm machinery, was, when, in desperation by Him Outdoors because there was no-one else to do it, he asked me to drive the tractor. Silly man. This attempt at doing so, as I forecast at the time, ended in disaster for the door to one of the sheds, the tractor and me. I can live with not being involved in this one thank you very much.

Apparently, "Operation Bale" involves serious logistical organisation, the like of which can be compared to an army regiment on manoeuvres. No coffee runs required by me as they "can't stop". OK, that's fine by me. I mentally rub my hands at some "me" time.

Hepworth & District WI

At our October meeting we enjoyed an entertaining visit from the Perennial Mr Potter alias Bryan Thurlow. Before our eyes he was the aged gardener looking back on his life from the time in 1913 when he left school to become the gardener's assistant at the local big house. With gardening tips and a display of venerable tools we were drawn into his world so different from today. A most stimulating evening.

Appropriately in November we had a visit from a member of the Royal British Legion who explained about the origins of the Legion and the varied things it does now to support ex-service people and their families. Most of us did not know about their care homes and their holiday centres and also that their centenary will be in 2020 when no doubt we can expect some particular celebrations. We also had reports on an enjoyable visit to Denman College by three members and a particularly enjoyable and funny evening at Thurston at our Autumn Council Meeting.

In December we will be lunching out for our Christmas celebrations but we will be back at Hepworth Pavilion on 11th January at 7.30pm when we will be bringing some favourite pieces of music to enjoy. Visitors are always very welcome. If you want more information about Hepworth and District WI please ring me or for general information about the WI look online at either the national federation web pages (<https://www.thewi.org.uk>) or the west suffolk one (<http://j.mp/WI-suffolk-west>).

“In Your Garden” with Tripp Batt of Stanton

We're told that 2017 has been one of the warmest on record once again and for gardeners this means the grass continues to grow even into December. But when you do use your mower for the last time, remember that modern fuel from the petrol station contains additives which over the inactive winter months tend to gum up and block jets in the carb. One possible preventative measure is to run your engine out of fuel, but a surer method is to add a product such as Fuel Fit which is designed to off-set the problem.

Remaining fallen leaves can be cleared away now and the garden is ready to rest for a period. Some winter flowering shrubs will be showing colour now, such as Mahonias, Viburnums and Winter Cherries, but summer shrubs which flowered from July onwards can now be pruned, and Wisterias can be lightly trimmed back too. Summer flowering Clematis can be cut back almost to the ground but don't forget where they are. Also make sure the way is clear for any winter bulbs such as Snowdrops and Aconites. A former neighbour of mine boasted the earliest Snowdrops in the village and I guess these are out already.

The vegetable garden is far less active at this time of year, but if you have heavy soil, you can turn over the top few inches and leave rough for the weather to break down. Overwintering crops may need extra support and protection. Strawberry runners can be detached from their parents and re-homed, and Rhubarb crowns can be lifted, divided, and re-planted, especially if they had a tendency to send up flowering shoots. It won't do any harm at this time of year to spread organic matter onto vegetable plots and let the worms do the digesting. Any remains can be dug in or raked off prior to planting.

Christmas will soon be upon us and many people enjoy a fresh indoor plant at this time of year. Poinsettias are the traditional plant for indoors, their bright red centres making a cheerful display. The red 'flowers' are actually bracts, and if these or the leaves break, a milky residue will appear. The secret for keeping them well, is to avoid drafts and direct sunlight, however a good level of light is still needed, and the temperature ought to stay above 13 degrees centigrade. Water from the bottom if possible (easier if stood in a saucer or pot cover), and your plants will reward you with many weeks of cheer.

Merry Christmas from us all at Tripp Batt! Ian Shilling
