News from Thurston Community College

Proposed cuts to free school bus provision by Suffolk County Council could remove the choice of parents in many of our catchment villages to send their children to Thurston Community College. Suffolk County Council is proposing to stop providing free bus transport to Thurston Community College to residents that live nearer to another school, even though Thurston will remain the catchment school for all the children in these villages.

This means that children who wish to continue attending their catchment school will have to pay £960 a year for a school bus or find some other way to get to school. We feel this is a huge burden for our families and will mean that a choice of school will only be available to those who can afford it.

We hope all residents will respond to the Suffolk County Council consultation to oppose the proposed changes. Even if you do not have school-age children, this will affect your community.

Suffolk County Council is consulting on three options:

1. Change to “nearest school only” wholesale in September 2019 (all students in all year groups would no longer qualify for free transport to Thurston Community College if they live closer to a different secondary school).
2. Change to “nearest school only” incrementally, from September 2019 (same as above, but existing students would continue to receive free transport while new students, including siblings, do not).
3. Make no changes to the school travel policy, but make savings from other Suffolk County Council budgets.

Thurston Community College will continue to oppose options 1 and 2 which we have shown will not make savings but will result in additional costs elsewhere. Option 3 is the only way to ensure that children in your village will all have the choice to attend Thurston Community College and its Sixth Form.

We urge all local people to make their views known to Suffolk County Council by responding to the consultation by 28 February 2018. The questionnaire can be completed online here: <http://j.mp/H2STrans>
Full information about the consultation here: <http://j.mp/SufTrans>

If you want to know more about our campaign against the proposed changes, please visit the College website: <http://j.mp/ThurH2S>

Hepworth Art News

We completed our year on a high note with an interesting December session where we painted each other! I hasten to add – on paper. There might have been some interesting reactions had we all emerged multi-coloured! An art Christmas Quiz followed by a buffet lunch sent us all on our way in festive mood.

After a three week break, at the time of writing and just two sessions in, we began with a gentle ease into the New Year by completing unfinished paintings. The following week woke us up! Fire, Fireworks and Flames! We did our best to paint them and there were some excellent results. Many other themes to challenge us this quarter include Celebrating Burns Night (Bagpipes and Dancers); A Mystery Session; A View through a Window and many others on which to report in the next issue of Hepworth Herald. On 12th February we are looking forward to welcoming Adrian Rumbles, a local artist, who is going to provide a session on Spring and Summer by using our senses.

Intriguing!

We are always pleased to welcome new members, but because we are full, we shall now be logging these and putting names on a 'waiting list'.

Are singing with great gusto every Monday at 19.30 in the Church.
All abilities welcome.

We are also looking for willing musicians to accompany!

Hepworth Defibrillator

Thanks to the generosity of Richard from Wup Doodle, Hepworth now has its own defibrillator which will be situated outside the gates of Stimson's yard. Signs directing the public to the device will be erected in the near future.

In the event of an emergency when a casualty is not breathing, call 999. The ambulance service will inform the caller of the location and access code to the defibrillator.

A defibrillator or Automated external defibrillator (AED) is a device that checks for heart rhythm and it can send an electric shock to the heart to restore normal rhythm. It is commonly used in the event of a cardiac arrest or heart attack.

Basic life support training sessions and AED training will be available to all residents in the near future. Watch this space.

Trees for Hepworth

I would like to introduce myself to you; I've been the Tree Warden for Hepworth over the past year and would like to identify places in the parish where trees and hedges could be planted with the landowner's permission. Volunteers could help in this process. The trees and hedging will be supplied by the organization, 'I Dig Trees', grown in Britain, using seed collected in the UK from native species.

As the Tree Warden for the parish I was invited to attend the annual East Anglia Tree Warden regional forum being held at Cockfield this year, the meeting was well attended. It focuses on making trees matter to people; more trees, of the right kind, in the right places; better care for all trees of all ages and inspiring effective action for trees. It works with its national volunteer Tree Warden Scheme and member organisations to engage people in biodiversity and environmental issues and to promote planting and conservation of trees and woods in town and country.

At the forum, we heard of many plantings of woods etc. at parish levels over East Anglia. In the afternoon, we had a guided walk to have a look at Cockfield's impressive creation of their wildlife areas along the old railway line and surrounding land.

I have been a resident in Hepworth since boyhood and during that time there's been many changes; the disappearance of hedgerows, trees and spinneys, also witnessing the demise of the Elm, which once thrived on our landscape. With now the threat to other species such as the Ash die back and looking at the age of many trees on the outskirts of the village, you will find some are in their final years, particularly the oaks in Market Weston road. I believe it will be beneficial if the parish had a commitment to undertake a plan to plant trees for the future generations to appreciate together with wildlife.

It would be good practise to use native seed from local trees to grow young seedlings for future planting, although these seedlings will take time to establish for transplanting. It is great to see work has already begun from the new owners of a parcel of land bordering Dunhill Lane, who have had the insight, (given the outlines coming from government regarding farming subsidies in the future) to allow the hedge and young Oak trees to re-establish, from the ancient hedge that once flourished there, hopefully giving inspiration for others to follow suit.

If you would like to offer any suggestions or would be able to volunteer any help I will glad to hear from you, please contact me at:

THE REAL HOUSEWIVES OF HEPWORTH VILLAGE

(A tongue in cheek, long-suffering farmer's wife view of life on the farm. Last time, we left our Housewife enjoying unexpected "me time" in the bath during "Operation Bale"...)

Let me elaborate on "Operation Bale." At the straw stack some couple of miles away ('off farm' is the terminology used) there is a JCB Teleporter ready to load the straw onto the tractor and a very big trailer: At this end there is another Teleporter unloading the straw bales, which come in many forms with names so innocuous I can't remember them, all I know is they're big, very big.. "Operation Home Stack" is carried out courtesy of a farming friend and his JCB, suitably kitted-up for the job in hand, or should I say for the job in grapple? The unloading is done outside the gate, necessitating care by any passing driver in order to pass the tractor and trailer. The situation of the trailer on the road explains why so much straw is in the yard, on the opening and down the road. My clear-up operation will be me, it's as simple as that, as soon as I can get round to it, with a large brush and lots of energy. (Am I up to the task?) Not sure my back is.

Anyway, back to my bath, you would think a bath had only one use and that is to bathe in it Oh no, not here, no way. Let me explain to you some of the uses for the bath here at the Farm.

Said bath is used for bathing young Labrador when she has decided to have a very social time with her friends the pigs, ie jumping into the sheds at every available opportunity and wandering around as if she is one. By the time she is coaxed out she looks and smells terrible. Thus bathing her takes place after a long, tiring day, involving Him Outdoors and myself, in yet again, a near-on military manoeuvre, with me taking orders as to when to pour more water on her, squeeze yet more shampoo onto hands, provide more towels, empty bath, then thoroughly clean bath.

Said bath is also used by Son for washing football boots after the "Game". On one occasion, said bath was used by son for standing in bath with football boots on, as Son had superglued the soles of his football boots, played a game and then, guess what, the soles had stuck to, not only his socks, oh no, nothing so simple, but his feet too!

Hepworth & District WI

We spent the first half of our first meeting of the New Year discussing the short list of five resolutions to go to our National AGM in Cardiff in June. All five had good reasons for being chosen and our votes on them will be taken account in the final decision. We followed this with a welcome glass of mulled wine or non-alcoholic beverage and some enjoyable nibbles while listening to a selection of favourite songs and pieces of music. This gave us a chance to catch up on news and to consider the events being put on by the Federation in the next few months.

On February 8th we have a speaker Frances Hart who will be telling us all about Celia's travels. Not our president Celia but Celia Fiennes and it promises to be an interesting evening. The meeting is at Hepworth Pavilion at 7.30pm when visitors who want to know more about the WI are very welcome. If you want more information about Hepworth and District WI please ring me or for general information about the WI look online at either the national federation web pages (<https://www.thewi.org.uk>) or the west suffolk one (<http://j.mp/WI-suffolk-west>).

In Your Garden

February is upon us and depending on the weather, real signs of spring should start to appear later in the month. On days when conditions are bright, there's enough to do in the garden to keep us moving and warm. Vegetable gardens may still look tatty from the autumn. Remove annual weeds as these may be flowering and seeding before you realise. Some preparations for vegetable growing can be made in the warmth though. Begin planning your plots so that similar crops are grown in different areas to last year, with a 3-year rotation being popular. As a rule of thumb, the three groups are; potatoes; roots and Brassicas, and Legumes (Peas and Beans) salad crops can fit in as required as these are generally quick to grow and less hungry. Potatoes should follow Brassicas, Brassicas should follow roots, and roots should follow Potatoes.

Because the deciduous leaves have yet to flourish, it's easier to prune hedges, shrubs and trees at this time of year, and before bird nesting begins. There's a range of tools to make the task easier, but they will all work best if they are sharpened for the job. This applies to shears, loppers hedge-trimmers and chainsaws. You will get a cleaner cut, which means a reduced chance of fungal infections, and the job will get done quicker too. Fruit trees also need pruning at this time of year before buds begin to 'break'. As a rule of thumb, reduce last year's growth by around a third, cutting just above an outward facing bud. Also take the opportunity to prune out dead and diseased wood and any growth which is 'crossing' the centres.

Look out for early signs of emerging plants and make sure that they aren't obstructed by dead leaves and other debris. Flowering stems of Hellebores, Primulas and spring bulbs will now be rising so give them a chance to do their best. In the vegetable plot Rhubarb will be doing the same thing but for this it's possible to cover the crowns to keep the light out and the resulting bright pinkish stems will be luscious and sweet. Rhubarb is of course a herbaceous plant in its true sense, but for other ornamental herbaceous plants, we're now at the last part of the season for dividing and re-planting.

Also emerging before very long, will be the lawnmower. Before you need to use it, give it a quick check out to make sure it will still start easily and that the blades are as sharp as they should be. Sharp blades will reduce the workload on the engine and give a finer cut. Happy Gardening!
