1. Village History

Hepworth's historic highway

The Shop and Street Hepworth – 1908

Some present cities, towns, and villages in this country make much of the fact of having been included in William the First's surveys of England in 1086 and 1087 when he wanted to know the extent and taxable value of the land. There are two volumes of the results, the Great Domesday and, of course, the Little Domesday. The first of these covered all of the country except for Essex, Norfolk and Suffolk, and for some reason London and Winchester were completely left out. As they were the two main cities of the land, perhaps there were already records of their value. The three Counties omitted were put in the second volumes. Perhaps the inhabitants were more resistant and obtuse when they learned the reason for the visitations? Whilst Hepworth is certainly included in the Domesday Book, as it is known, we can claim to having a much older settlement in this small valley, which is not much more than a dip in the ground but I suspect that a stream ran along it and the surrounding woods would have provided the meat and veg. Certainly the Romans found it to their liking as much of their pottery has been found here in recent times

4. Parish Council Meetings

Hepworth Parish Council generally meets on the first Thursday of every other month (January, March, May, July, September, November and December). Extraordinary meetings may be arranged in between these dates if necessary. The Annual General Meeting of the Parish Council is held in May and includes the election of the Chairman and Vice-Chairman.

Agendas for each meeting will appear on the website www.hepworthvillage.co.uk and on the village noticeboard (situated at Wood Lane) in advance. The meetings are held at Hepworth Village Hall and begin at 7.30 p.m. Members of the public are welcome, and the meeting will normally be adjourned to hear any comments that they wish to make.

The Annual Parish Meeting is held in April. This is not a Council meeting, although it will be chaired by the Chairperson of the Parish Council. It is a meeting of the parish electors and provides an opportunity to celebrate activities or achievements in the village and discuss current issues. Electors (voters) can contribute to the agenda for the meeting via The Parish Clerk.

A brief history of St. Peter's Church

There was a church here at the time of the Domesday Survey in 1086. The present structure dates mainly from the 14th and 15th centuries. The chief material from which the church is built is flint. Cut stone dressings are used for the buttresses, arches and windows.

The Nave windows are in the Perpendicular style, and the Chancel windows are in the Decorated style.

When the old thatched roof burned down in 1898, the new oak double hammer beam roof was installed, with its richly carved pendants, in the characteristic mediaeval Suffolk style. Among the fittings which escaped the fire were the fine old oak door, and the late 14th century font cover. This is an octagonal pinnacled spire of oak 12'6" high, elaborately decorated with tabernacle work of arches and tracery.

There is an attractive stained glass window in the chancel showing the angel announcing the Resurrection of Christ to Mary Magdalene and the other Mary. The shell emblem of the Methold family, who lived at Hepworth House, can be seen in the cloak and halo of one of the women. The same device appears on a shield in the little window on the south side.

There are five bells. The Tenor bell is the oldest, dating from about 1470.

The church's Registers date from 1688, and are now kept at the Suffolk Record Office.

The Patron has been Kings College Cambridge since 1790. The list of past Rectors of the Parish goes back to just after the Norman Conquest.

If you would like to read more about the church, there is a beautifully detailed account of a visit to it at the wonderful Suffolk Churches website where you can find the page for St Peter's.
